COVID 19 Notice:

McLennan Community College is committed to providing you with every resource you need to reach your academic goals. We are also concerned for your safety. We are working through COVID-19 guidelines to make sure we offer a safe environment for you and our faculty. This will include smaller class sizes to manage social distancing and proper cleaning techniques. You will have the advantage of a physical classroom experience but may also need to work part of the time online as we adjust to limited classroom capacity. This will also allow us the flexibility to move online if so directed by federal, state and/or local COVID 19 guidelines. Faculty and staff are preparing now to ensure that you have the best experience in the midst of these uncertain times.

COMPOSITION 2

ENGL 1302.093

COURSE DESCRIPTION FOR ALL STATE OF TEXAS ENGL 1302 CLASSES:

The course description below comes from the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board's Academic Classroom Guide Manual for all ENGL 1302 courses in public colleges and universities across Texas:

"Intensive study of and practice in the strategies and techniques for developing research-based expository and persuasive texts. Emphasis on effective and ethical rhetorical inquiry, including primary and secondary research methods; critical reading of verbal, visual, and multimedia texts; systematic evaluation, synthesis, and documentation of information sources; and critical thinking about evidence and conclusions."

Prerequisites and/or Co-requisites: ENGL 1301 or its equivalent with a grade of C or better, or consent of Division Chair.

SPECIFIC REQUIREMENTS FOR THIS COURSE (Course Notes and Requirements):

Requirements for emails:

1. Use your MCC email account: Because of Federal privacy laws and MCC's email policy, you must use your MCC email account for all class communication outside of Brightspace.
2. Use an informative subject line: Put two items in the subject line of all emails: (a) ENGL 1302 + (b) your reason for writing in the subject line for emails. Example: ENGL 1302 jury duty absence
 - IMPORTANT NOTE: Use email only for personal communication. Ask questions about the course in the forums on Brightspace so everyone gets the answer—just like raising your hand in class.
3. Use the following format in all emails—to practice writing in a more formal style than text messaging:
 - a) Start your email with a salutation--such as Hi Prof B.
 - b) Write your message in the body in complete sentences.
 - c) Create a closing--such as Thanks--and type your first name under it.
 - d) Proofread and edit—remember that you are writing to your English professor, not a friend.

Requirements for submitting files:

- Submit files as either MS Word documents (preferred) or PDF files. NOTE: Do not submit Google docs. If you don't have a Word account, see page two for the link to a free account. If you aren't sure how to save your document, do a Web search on "How do I save x as a PDF?" Feel free to ask for help in forums.

MCC'S OFFICIAL EMAIL POLICY (see the "Specific Requirements" for email requirements for this class):

McLennan Community College would like to remind you of the policy (<http://www.mclennan.edu/employees/policy-manual/docs/E-XXXI-B.pdf>) regarding college email. All students, faculty, and staff are encouraged to use their McLennan email addresses when conducting college business. A student's McLennan email address is the preferred email address that college employees should use for official college information or business. Students are expected to read and, if needed, respond in a timely manner to college emails.

Instructional Uses of Email:

Faculty members can determine classroom use of email or electronic communications. Faculty should expect and encourage students to check the college email on a regular basis.

Email on Mobile Devices:

The College recommends that you set up your mobile device to receive McLennan emails.

Forwarding Emails:

You may forward the emails that come to your McLennan address to alternate email addresses; however, the College will not be held responsible for emails forwarded to an alternate address that may become lost or placed in junk or spam filters.

METHODS OF TEACHING AND LEARNING:

ENGL 1302 is a hands-on, interactive class that requires reading, thinking, discussing with others, planning, drafting, offering peer advice, and revising and editing. The course is not self-paced nor individualized, so you will need to adhere to stated deadlines and work in groups with your classmates; however, you will be able to work ahead for most assignments.

CORE OBJECTIVES and COMPETENCIES FOR COMMUNICATION:

The objectives and outcomes below are from the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board's Academic Classroom Guide Manual for all ENGL 1302 courses in public colleges and universities across Texas

ENGL 1302 focuses on developing ideas and expressing them clearly, considering the effect of the message, fostering understanding, and building the skills needed to communicate persuasively. Courses involve the command of oral, aural, written, and visual literacy skills that enable people to exchange messages appropriate to the subject, occasion, and audience.

- Critical Thinking (CT) -- includes creative thinking, innovation, inquiry, and analysis, evaluation and synthesis of information
- Communications Skill (COM) -- includes effective development, interpretation and expression of ideas through written, oral and visual communication
- Teamwork (TW) -- includes the ability to consider different points of view and to work effectively with others to support a shared purpose or goal
- Personal Responsibility (PR) -- includes the ability to connect choices, actions and consequences to ethical decision-making

State-set Learning Outcomes for ENGL 1302:

By the end of the semester, students receiving passing grades will be able to do the following:

1. Demonstrate knowledge of individual and collaborative research processes.
2. Develop ideas and synthesize primary and secondary sources within focused academic arguments, including research-based essays.
3. Analyze, interpret, and evaluate a variety of texts for the ethical and logical uses of evidence.
4. Write in a style that clearly communicates meaning, builds credibility, and inspires belief or action.
5. Apply the conventions of style manuals for specific academic disciplines (e.g., MLA).

COURSE OUTLINE/SCHEDULE:

The following schedule is subject to change. Any changes will be emailed to the class and posted on Brightspace. You'll find a calendar with all semester dues dates on the home page and in the Trail Guide module. Assignments will open at least 2 weeks before their deadlines.

Grading scale:

- | | |
|-----------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| • 900-1000 points = excellent = A | • 600-699 points = below average = D |
| • 800-899 points = good = B | • 0-599 points = unacceptable = F |
| • 700-799 points = average = C | |

COURSE GRADING INFORMATION:

There are a total of 1000 possible points in the class. The total number of points you've earned by the end of the semester determines your course grade. The point value of each task can be found on the calendar, in the instructions, and in the gradebook. You'll access the tasks via the navbar at the top of the course home page. Use the calendar to see where to find each task.

Composition 2

ENGL 1302.093

Below are the types of tasks in the course and how they affect the overall grade:

- Finished, revised products = 50% of the grade. There are 4 of these.
- Process tasks = 35% of the grade. There are 12 process tasks, such as a Zoom meeting, outlines, and drafts.
- Quizzes: = 15% of the grade. There are 14 open-book and untimed quizzes. The goal is to encourage you to read and study the course materials carefully.

The course is divided into 5 sections, defined below. There is a calendar of all assignment deadlines on the homepage of our course and in the orientation.

1. Week 1 = The Orientation, a Trail Guide (40 points): You'll introduce yourself in the forums and take an open-book test over the course policies and procedures. The purpose of this section is to familiarize yourself with the course materials, rules, and processes, and to meet classmates.
2. Weeks 2-4 = Project 1, an Example-based Analysis (180 points): You'll submit an outline, a draft, and a revision, and take quizzes over essay structure and point of view. The purpose of Project 1 is to review and improve your ENGL 1301 skills (basic essay format, exemplification, analysis, the writing process, and how to use point of view for clarity).
3. Weeks 5-8 = Project 2, a Source-Based Classification Essay (250 points): You'll take quizzes over four secondary sources as well over attribution and using titles and quotes, and you'll write an outline, draft, and revision of a research-based essay. The purpose of Project 2 is to learn about and practice the skills of classification and evaluation, practice reading and using secondary source material, as well as learn how to attribute to sources and punctuate titles and quotes in a non-MLA format.
4. Weeks 9-12 = Project 3, an IMRaD-based Primary Source Report (240 points): You'll take a quiz over IMRaD structure and argumentation and write a data analysis, and the four parts of the IMRaD format. The purpose of Project 3 is to learn about and practice using a science-based writing format to present the results a survey.
5. Weeks 12-16 = Project 4, the Capstone research project (290 points): You'll take quizzes over the problem/solution format and MLA 8 rules for format and citation as well as write an outline, draft, and revision. The capstone project also serves as the final exam for the course. The purpose of Project 4 is to learn about and practice using a problem/solution process to analyze primary and secondary sources as evidence as well as to use MLA 8 to format your essay and cite sources.

Department Capstone requirement: All MCC English 1302 courses include a capstone research project that will be graded by the standardized rubric below. To meet the state-mandated core objectives of the capstone, you must accurately evaluate, compare, and integrate at least 3 secondary sources; cite sources correctly and appropriately, using MLA documentation style; and work together to improve the product through shared data collection, peer review, and self and team-member analysis.

LATE WORK, ATTENDANCE, AND MAKE UP WORK POLICIES:

Composition 2

ENGL 1302.093

Deadlines for tasks are needed to keep everyone moving forward, to build on skills as we go, and because the State of Texas requires collaboration with other students.

- Working Ahead: Deadlines are not due dates; instead, they are the point at which an assignment must be completed or suffer a penalty. You are encouraged to work ahead of the deadlines to read assignments, ask questions or help each other, and submit projects. I will grade and respond to posts, drafts, and essays in chronological order, as assigned.

WARNING about deadlines: As a reminder, the deadlines are the last possible moment to submit assignments. You will need to start each task long before the deadlines.

- Late Penalties: To earn full points, all assignments must be submitted by the deadlines found in the course calendar in the Trail Guide module in Brightspace. Late penalties depend on the task:
 - Quizzes cannot be taken late because the answers are made available at the deadline. There are no make-up assignments for missed quizzes because (a) you can lose 100 points and still earn an A in the course and (b) you can earn 20 points in bonus tasks.
 - Process Tasks (prewriting, outlining, and drafts) need to be submitted quickly to allow me and your classmates to provide feedback. Because of that, they will lose 25% of their point value if submitted after the deadline on their due date, 50% the next day, and 75% the next. If submitted after that, they will not earn points.
 - Late revised essays will lose 10% of their point value per 24-hour period, beginning at 12:05 p.m. on the day they are due. The exception is the Capstone project. Because it is due on final exam week, late work will lose 25% of the grade if submitted after the deadline on the due date, 50% if submitted the next day, and 75% if submitted the day after that. Project 4 essays will not be accepted after that time.
 - Attendance: Failure to submit an assignment by the deadline counts as an absence. Failure to submit 25% of the assignments will result in being withdrawn, per MCC and State of Texas regulations. That means you will be withdrawn at your 7th zero before the drop date. Zeros after the drop date do not count towards the attendance percentage:
 - ALERT: It is the student's responsibility to withdraw before Oct. 26 if you do not intend on completing the course. Because of this, you will not be withdrawn after the drop date even if you accrue 7 or more zeros after Oct. 26.
 - Make up Work/Extenuating Circumstances: Sometimes life gets in the way of our good intentions. If you know a task will be late—or if you've fallen behind--contact me immediately, and let's make a plan to salvage the semester. If there are extenuating circumstances, let me know as soon as possible so we can work out a solution. I know we are in unprecedented times, and I will work with you as much as I can to help you complete the course. Don't forget that you might need to provide documentation of the extreme and unavoidable situation that prevented you from submitting a task before the deadline.
 - Extra Credit Opportunities: You may earn up to 25 points by doing the bonus tasks listed on the course calendar. This is a potential 2.5% grade bonus, so the deadlines are final.

BEHAVIORAL EXPECTATIONS and CONDUCT POLICY:

Here's What You Can Expect from Me:

- Competence: You can expect that I know a lot about writing—and about teaching writing. I've been teaching college-level writing for over 30 years. I've won a college-level state teaching award, and my online ENGL 1301 course was chosen as a "best-practice" model for Texas community colleges. I have degrees and graduate course work in composition, rhetoric, and social psychology, and I regularly read articles about writing, the brain, and learning theory. I also study current trends in writing—in college and the workplace—both for print and online tasks. My goal is to help you become a better thinker and writer this semester and for life.
- Privacy: You can expect that I will respect your privacy. Due to the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA), I am prohibited from talking with anyone other than you about your classwork or grades unless you have completed a Student Release of Records form: Click here to read about the release.
- Fairness & equity: You can expect to be treated fairly, which means that everyone will be held to the same set of standards and policies, but that truly extenuating circumstances will be taken into consideration as needed.
- Reasonable response times: You can expect to hear from me fairly quickly most weekdays, definitely within 24 hours. I am generally not available on weekends, though, so if you write me on a Friday evening, you probably won't hear back until Monday.
 - Helpful Hint: The world is at your fingertips. If I am not available, do one or more of the following:
 - Ask questions in the forums in our course.
 - Check with MCC's technology helpline.
 - Search the World Wide Web.
 - Haven't heard from me? You should expect to hear from me within 24 hours of your contact--except on weekends. NOTE: I am not always at the computer, and I do not have MCC emails set to come to my phone. If you have not heard from me for longer than 24 hours during the work week, check your spam filter in case my response got caught. Then check your sent items to make sure your email was sent. Then contact me again by forwarding the original email and explaining the situation.

Here's What I Expect from You:

- Active engagement: You are expected to spend the same amount of time and effort on this online course as you would if you were coming to an on-campus class—and more if needed. Because writing is an interactive subject, you can expect to devote 6 - 9 hours per week to this course (maybe more if English or technology is difficult for you). During these hours, you will read, watch instructional videos, think, plan, discuss, write, revise, and participate in class activities--as well as ask and answer questions, and submit finished projects.

Warning! To award credit for a 3-credit-hour class, the State of Texas requires 48 hours of attendance. In an online class, attendance is defined as participation, i.e., engaging in conversations on the forums, emailing me, and timely completion of assignments. I am required to withdraw you for lack of participation at the 25% non-participation point, i.e., when you have missed 7 assignments before the drop date.

- Responsible Behavior: You are expected to behave as an adult who chose to enroll in an online class in an accredited college funded by tax-payer dollars. These responsibilities include . . .
 - Demonstrating appreciation of the fact that the hard-earned dollars of McLennan County taxpayers paid a chunk of your tuition bill.
 - Showing respect for other students, the course materials, and the instructor.
 - Engaging in prompt and regular participation—including asking for help—in a way that furthers not only your own knowledge and skill level but that of your classmates as well.
 - Focusing on the point of the course = to learn the knowledge and practice the skills deemed necessary by the State of Texas, the college system across the U.S, and most businesses.

FYI: See MCC's General Conduct Policy in the Highlander Guide for detailed information about your rights and requirements as a student at MCC.

Click here for the MCC Academic Integrity Statement: This link will provide you with information about the value of academic integrity, dishonesty, and cheating—and the consequences for not adhering to these values.

Specific Academic Integrity Rules for this section:

1. Students caught cheating the first time (this includes acts of plagiarism as well as getting too much help from others) will receive a zero for the assignment without the chance to redo the work and will be reported to the Director of Language, Literature, and Communication and to the Office of Student Discipline.
2. Students caught cheating a second time will be removed from the class and receive a grade of F for the course—not a W-- as well as be required to meet with a representative from the Office of Student Discipline. Students may be placed on academic probation depending on the offense.

Click Here for the MCC Attendance/Absences Policy

(<https://www.mclennan.edu/highlander-guide/policies.html>)

Click on the link for the college policies on attendance and absences.

Attendance rules specific to this section:

- Because online classes don't meet face-to-face, the State has defined online attendance as participation, signified by the timely completion of assignments. If your absences total 25% of the course (7 assignments) before the drop date, you will be withdrawn for non-participation.
- WARNING! If you reach the point of non-participation (7 zeros) after the drop date, you will not be withdrawn. Instead, you will receive the grade that corresponds to the number of points you have earned at the end of the semester, usually an F.

The 6-Course Drop Limit: If you took your first college class after the Fall of 2007, you are subject to the 6-course drop limit. This is a rule from the State of Texas that says you will not be allowed to withdraw from any classes after you have accrued 6 drops.

Accommodations/ADA Statement

Any student who is a qualified individual with a disability may request reasonable accommodations to assist with providing equal access to educational opportunities. Students should contact the Accommodations Coordinator as soon as possible to provide documentation and make necessary arrangements. Once that process is completed, appropriate verification will be provided to the student and instructor. Please note that instructors are not required to provide classroom accommodations to students until appropriate verification has been provided by the Accommodations Coordinator. Instructors should not provide accommodations unless approved by the Accommodations Coordinator. For additional information, please visit mclennan.edu/disability.
