Weekly Quizzes : 40 %

There will be a quiz each week and no grades will be dropped.

Discussion Board Questions: 40%

There will be EIGHT Discussion board questions.

Discussion #1 and #8 will be span only one week. These require ONE post each.

Discussion #2, #3, #4, #5, #6, span two weeks. Discussion # 7 spans three weeks. These require THREE posts on THREE different days during the two or three week period. That is three days during a fourteen day period that you need to post.

Your initial reply to the discussion prompt must be made before the end of the first week in the discussion period. To make your initial post in response to the discussion prompt click the Reply button below. Your post should be about a paragraph long (or 5-10 sentences). Discussion board posts should always be written at college level which means using college vocabulary, proper grammar with correct capitalization and punctuation. Avoid using "text speak", acronyms (like ROFL) or emotions. Reply to at least two classmates posts with thoughtful and considerate posts. Your replies should be a couple sentences to a paragraph long. Your reply posts should be made before the end of the second week in the discussion period.

Discussion Forum Grade Weighting

A maximum of 100 participation points can be earned per each discussion forum. How points are earned is detailed in the table below.

	Quantitative points	Qualitative points
3 or more posts made (100 points possible)	70	30
1 post made	30	10

Discussion forum participation points are earned in two ways.

1. 3 posts or more on 3 different days earn quantitative points (70 points).
2. How well you post [i.e. familiarity with the course material and your classmates posts] earns qualitative points (30 points).

In order to earn the maximum of 100 points per discussion you need to make at least 3 substantive posts, on 3 different days that improve the discussion for everyone. It is possible for a post to earn quantitative points but not earn any qualitative points. If a post is particularly weak it may actually not even earn the quantitative points. An example of a post which is so poor that it doesn't earn quantitative points would be, "I totally agree with you Sally!" -or- "Thank you for posting that John!" As the discussion occurs it will become obvious what a poor, average, and good post is. If you have questions please ask via e-mail.

ART APPRECIATION

Other scenarios about posting:

- If you make 3 or more posts on the same day, that is equivalent to only one post. So, you will only be able to receive a maximum of 40 points.
- If you make 2 posts on 2 different days, it still does not meet the minimum posting requirement. Therefore, you will not receive more than 65 points.

The more quality posts you make will only help your grade. So, please feel free to make more posts than the minimum requirement.

There will be a total of eight discussion board questions. Six of the questions will required three or more posts. The only exception to this structure is that the first and last discussions will require only one post.

Discussion board questions will close after the due date. Part of this grade is class participation, therefore you will not be able to make up a discussion board question if you miss the due date. Once the discussion is closed, you will be unable to actively participate in a discussion. If you do not actively participate in the discussion when it is open to the class, you will be graded accordingly. Please pay attention to the time constraints of the discussion forums as no discussion board grades will be dropped.

Teamwork Assignment (Social Responsibility): 20 %

Who owns cultural property? Students will be placed in groups and will work together to understand the issues that are related to the ethical management of antiquities. This assignment involves reading scholarly articles in the field of art history.

Late Work, Attendance, and Make Up Work Policies:

If you fall behind in the course, it is up to you to contact me if you are concerned about your final grade. Lack of an online presence will start to add up and will be documented. Large amounts of time missed will start to impact your final grade. If needed, you will be contacted about your lack of participation and/or attendance in the course through Brightspace and MCC email.

MCC has provided instructors with online attendance registers and will be monitoring your participation in the online aspects of the course. If you miss 20% of the course, you will receive a notification about your progress. It is up to you to manage your time wisely and if needed drop the course in a timely matter. It is the responsibility of the student, not the instructor, to drop a class. Students who stop participating in the class and do not drop will receive an F in the class.

Student Behavioral Expectations or Conduct Policy:

*Students are expected to maintain classroom and online decorum that includes respect for other students and the instructor, prompt and regular attendance and participation in online assignments, and an attitude that seeks to take full advantage of the education opportunity.
