Course Description:

Anatomy and Physiology II is the second part of a two-course sequence. It is a study of the structure and function of the human body including the following systems: endocrine, cardiovascular, immune, lymphatic, respiratory, digestion (including nutrition), urinary (including fluids and electrolyte balance), and reproductive (including human development and genetics). Emphasis is on interrelationships among systems and regulation of physiological functions involved in maintaining homeostasis. The lab provides a hands-on learning experience for exploration of the human systems covered in lecture.

2. Communication Skill (COM): to include effective written, oral, and visual communication.
  - Taught through formal or information presentation (including oral, written and visual components), class discussion and assessment via common rubric or use of scientific language, clarity, and understanding. Also taught using scientific articles or current events within face-to-face or online discussion groups.
3. Empirical and Quantitative Skills (EQS): to include applications of scientific and mathematical concepts.
  - Taught using specific laboratory exercises involving measurements and very basic data collection (for example measuring arm length among each group, tallying the data, and then analyzing it by gender and height).
4. Teamwork: To include the ability to consider different points of view and to work effectively with others to support a shared purpose or goal.
  - Taught using specific laboratory or homework exercises and/or through class or online discussion groups.

- Make-up Exams will only be allowed with an EXCUSED absence
- Students must inform Dr. Dove if they will miss an exam BEFORE the exam date.
- All make-up exams must be scheduled within 1-week of the missed exam.
- All make-ups must be taken before the last Lab Practical.
- Unannounced Quizzes will be given throughout the semester

Lecture Exams

Lecture exams include 75-100 questions and consist of multiple choice, matching and short-answer questions.

- You need Scantron (form 882-E) for each lecture exam, a number 2 pencil, and good quality eraser.
  - Please do NOT use a mechanical pencil for essay questions or the lab practicals. These pencils are too light for my vision.
- Exam 1: Endocrine, Digestive, Nutrition, Fluid & Electrolyte Balance

Discussion Board

- Participation on the discussion board is part of the Assignment grade.
  - Grading is based on discussion which demonstrates understanding of physiological concepts.
  - Students will post on the initial prompt and then reply to 2 classmates.
    - Failure to engage with other classmates will result in an automatic 5 point deduction (2.5 points each)
  - The total grade reflects physiological understanding and participation
    - Bonus points are possible

Extra Credit Opportunities:

- Extra credit will be awarded throughout the semester. Extra points can be awarded during exams and in the Discussion Boards.
