EDUC_1300_B005

Course Description:

A study of the a) research and theory in the psychology of learning, cognition, and motivation; b) factors that impact learning; and c), application of learning strategies. Theoretical models of strategic learning, cognition, and motivation serve as the conceptual basis for the introduction of college-level student academic strategies. Students use assessment instruments (e.g. learning inventories) to help them identify their own strengths and weaknesses as strategic learners. Students are ultimately expected to integrate and apply the learning skills discussed across their own academic programs and become effective and efficient learners. Students developing these skills should be able to continually draw from the theoretical models they have learned.

Methods of Teaching and Learning:

This is a blended class. It will have required meetings each week, with the rest of the course content delivered via the Internet. This course is an “Inclusive Access” offering. You paid for the electronic textbook software as part of your MCC semester fees. You will access the etextbook, quizzes and many of the activities by clicking on links in Brightspace.

Students are expected to complete the weekly reading, participate in Discussion Board (Db) as assigned, and complete any quizzes, activities and papers as assigned.

Discussion Boards:

After reviewing the week’s material, you will be asked to respond to a prompt that the instructors will provide in the Discussion Board. The initial response should be well thought out and substantial enough to indicate that you have a firm grasp on the week’s materials. You must then respond to two classmates with substantial posts. Responds like “I agree” or “Good point” will not be counted. Your responses should be at least 3-6 sentences long. Please do not text-speak, such as “LOL” or “BFF” as these will not count either. Avoid posting in ALL CAPS as this looks like YOU ARE YELLING at the other student.

Participation in the weekly Discussion Board will be used to take attendance. If you fail to complete your Discussion Board post, you will be counted absent from class for the second meeting of the week.
