Methods of Teaching and Learning:

Brightspace announcements and postings, lectures, discussions, quizzes, outside readings, objective exams, subjective exams, and short essays.

Course Objectives and/or Competencies:

Critical Thinking: Through lecture and a variety of objective strategies, students will be assessed on critical thinking ability. Objective examinations will specifically be used to assess critical thinking. Other assessment vehicles may include essays, portfolios, primary source objective exams, and presentations.

Communication: Measures such as objective tests, written assignments, discussions, portfolios, and presentations may be used to measure the student's ability to communicate.

Social Responsibility: Because the teaching of history involves evoking examples of successes and failures in social responsibility, and the continual importance of this issue politically and personally today, social responsibility naturally is emphasized. Assessment measures may include readings, primary document exams, discussions, projects, and essays.

Personal Responsibility: Because the teaching of history also involves evoking examples of successes and failures in personal responsibility, and the consequences that personal choices can have, personal responsibility is also naturally emphasized. Assessment measures may include participation, readings, primary document exams, discussions, projects, and essays.

Course Attendance/Participation Guidelines:

If a student is not in attendance in accordance with the policies/guidelines of the class as outlined in the course syllabus as of the course census date, faculty are required to drop students from their class roster prior to certifying the respective class roster. A student's financial aid will be re-evaluated accordingly and the student will only receive funding for those courses attended as of the course census date.

Before the 60% point of the semester, a student who is absent for 25% or more of a face-to-face or blended course or who miss 25% or more of assigned work for an online course will be withdrawn from the course with a grade of W. A student may also request to be withdrawn with a grade of W before the 60% point of the semester. After the 60% point of the semester, the student may request to be withdrawn if the student is passing, or be assigned the final grade earned at the end of the semester after grades have been updated to reflect missing work.

I am here to help you be successful in the course, and I believe appropriate classroom conduct helps achieve this goal. You are expected to behave professionally and display respect for yourself, fellow students, the instructor, and the course, in all interactions. It is your responsibility to track your own progress in the course, starting from successful submission of assignments, to returned feedback and grades. Since this is a college course, you are expected to perform professionally in this course and in your submitted work. You will receive the grade earned and that grade is a permanent entry included on your college transcript.

Students are expected to read the syllabus:

You are responsible for reading the syllabus. The instructor is not responsible for the student reading the syllabus. It is in the student's best interest to have completely read and reviewed the syllabus as soon as you can, and to ask questions if any criteria, evaluation method, or course policy is not clear or requires more explanation for their understanding.

Computer use is required for this course:

This course uses Brightspace for assignments.
