ENGL-1302-022

Reid Makowsky, PhD

NOTE: This is a 16-week course.

COVID 19 Notice:

McLennan Community College is committed to providing you with every resource you need to reach your academic goals. We are also concerned for your safety. We are working through COVID-19 guidelines to make sure we offer a safe environment for you and our faculty. This will include smaller class sizes to manage social distancing and proper cleaning techniques. You will have the advantage of a physical classroom experience but may also need to work part of the time online as we adjust to limited classroom capacity. This will also allow us the flexibility to move online if so directed by federal, state and/or local COVID 19 guidelines. Faculty and staff are preparing now to ensure that you have the best experience in the midst of these uncertain times.

Course Description: This course aims to help students read and write at a college-level and emphasizes the basic skills of persuasive writing: ethical rhetorical strategies, research, and deft handling of sources.

Prerequisites and/or Corequisites: Prerequisite: English 1301 with a grade of C or better

Course Notes and Instructor Recommendations:

1. Writing is an art, not a science. Science has to do with knowing, but art has to do with making. As with any kind of art, writers learn about certain principles—certain mental gear that helps them—but these only take a writer so far. Improvement depends on practice of the craft.
2. Writing well is challenging. The best writers in the world work very hard to write well. No successful writers consider their first draft to be their final draft.
3. Writing is up to the writer. As a class, we read and discuss great writing together; we learn the principles of good writing; and we practice the various stages of writing. However, it is finally up to you to decide that you are going to make the effort to write well.

Title: The Best American Essays of the Century
Author: Oates and Atwan, eds.
Edition: N/A
Publisher: Houghton Mifflin
ISBN:978-0-618-15587-3

MCC Bookstore Website: <http://www.mclennan.edu/bookstore/>

Methods of Teaching and Learning: Much of our time together will be spent discussing the readings from our book. This semester I've chosen to use an anthology of great American essays (rather than a text book) so that we can learn from and respond directly to truly great writers. There will also be short lectures, quizzes, and four major essays as well as four minor essays.

Course Objectives and/or Competencies: While honing the writing skills gained in 1301, students will learn both to analyze and use rhetoric to make their writing more persuasive.

Composition II
ENGL-1302-022

Students will also develop their ability to think carefully and deeply about various problems and articulate such well-developed thinking in their essays.

Assignments will require students to read sources carefully and critically; to evaluate information and sources accurately and fairly through summary, paraphrase, and quotation; and to incorporate and document sources in their own writing. At the end of this course, you should be better equipped to understand and engage the people, the ideas, and the world around you.

No make-up daily work is permitted except in special cases. If you want to do well in this course, you must do all of the reading and should plan to attend all class meetings. Failure to attend at least three quarters of all meetings will result in a grade of “W” or “F”, depending on whether you were passing. Failure to submit an assignment counts as an absence. If you arrive after class has begun you will be counted tardy. Three tardies equal one absence. If you arrive more than 10 minutes late, you will be counted absent. Students use their phones in class will be counted absent. Students who do not bring the necessary books to class will also be counted absent.
