Methods of Teaching and Learning:

1. This is an 8-week online course and will require a significant amount of self-discipline. You are expected to log into Brightspace every day to check the course. Additionally, you should check your MCC student email daily. Since we do not have formal classroom meetings, I will act more as a facilitator for learning than a traditional professor. You are expected to read the chapters (often more than once if needed to understand the material) and complete the required assignments on time. No less would be expected of you in the business world. I am here to ensure that you understand and are learning the objectives set for this course. Students are expected to be self-disciplined, use time management skills effectively, and to be accountable for their actions in this course.
2. This course utilizes textbook reading, online quizzes, assignments that require the critical reading and logical reasoning skills you are learning in this course, participation in discussions, and completion of exams timely. As your instructor, it is my responsibility to ensure that this online course represents the same course content and rigor of a face-to-face course. Accordingly, you should expect to devote a comparable amount of time each week to reading, self-study, and completion of assignments. You should understand that this is a tough course and it is designed to be so, as it is a reflection of the expectations of the business world. Reading the textbook is not optional. Completing assignments or exams is not optional. Do not be surprised if you need to read the text several times to fully comprehend the material. The goal of this class is two-fold: teach you laws that affect businesses, but more importantly, teach you to think critically in a far different way than you are accustomed to. Be prepared to put in the necessary time and effort to succeed in this course!

3. Time is not your friend in this course. For today's college students (and business professionals), time is your most limited commodity and should be constantly monitored. In today's world, you are required to complete all assigned requirements while maintaining your responsibilities at home, at work, and in society. Do not fall behind!

Course Objectives and/or Competencies:

Course objectives are listed on the first page of each chapter in the required text. Additionally, the following course objectives will be met during the course:

- Describe the origins and structure of the U.S. legal system;
- Describe the relationship of ethics and law in business;
- Define relevant legal terms in business;
- Explain basic principles of law that apply to business and business transactions;
- Describe business law in the global context; and,
- Describe current law, rules, and regulations related to settling business disputes.

Dropping the Class:

I will drop students from this class upon student request until April 18, 2023 (04/18/2023). This is the last day you may drop this course. After April 18, 2023 (04/18/2023), I will not drop you from this course.

80.000% – 89.999%	B
70.000% – 79.999%	C
60.000% – 69.999%	D

Please note that the “Adjusted Final Grade” from the course gradebook will be pulled into WebAdvisor. The grade scheme listed above determines the letter grade you will receive. The Adjusted Final Grade will appear as a “=1” should you receive an “Incomplete” for the course. Grades will be averaged based on work completed in accordance with the percentages listed above. All uncompleted work will receive a “zero (0)” for the assignment and be averaged accordingly.

Syllabus Quiz – 5%

A ten (10) question quiz regarding the terms and conditions of the Syllabus will appear on Brightspace during the first week of the course. In order to determine whether you are participating in the course by the time of the class census date, I require all students to complete the Syllabus Quiz until you earn a full one-hundred percent (100%). You can take the Syllabus Quiz as many times as needed, without any time limitations.

Chapter Reading Quizzes – 15%

For each chapter covered in this course, you will be responsible for completing a chapter quiz. You will have twenty (20) minutes with a two (2) minute grace period to complete quizzes. Additionally, You have two (2) attempts to complete the quiz. The highest grade of your two (2) attempts will be recorded in the grade book. I will drop your lowest quiz score. If you have accommodations on file with MCC, those accommodations will be made accordingly on Brightspace (D2L).

Case Brief Assignments – 20%

The major project of this course is a Case Brief Assignment. A case brief is an organized, written summary of the essential elements of a judicial opinion. They are useful tools to assist you in learning how to analyze the law. To brief a case, you must first carefully read the case to gain an overall understanding of the facts of the case, the decision rendered by the court, and the reasoning behind the court’s decision. After you have read a case once for understanding, go back and read it a second time, this time, identifying the different parts of the case that will be the subject of your discussion in the case brief. More information regarding this assignment, requirements, and cases you may examine for this assignment will be posted in the Case Brief Assignment module in Brightspace. The minimum requirements for the case brief are:

- Word (.docx or .doc) file format
- Century Schoolbook (or Cambria), 12 point font
- Double-spaced
- Clear and consistent usage of the Case Briefing method (see the PDF in the Case Brief Assignment module in Brightspace)

Discussion Boards – 20%

I will post a relevant, open-ended discussion business question for the entire class to consider throughout the course. These questions are generally argumentative and interpretive, and some will require you to apply what you learn in your readings.

I likely treat online class discussion boards differently than you are accustomed to in traditional online courses. First, the discussions chosen tend to be open-ended and focused on broader trends and questions that attorneys, accountants, and other business professionals have argued academically for some time. Second, I do not have a rigid rubric and/or posting number requirement.

As with a traditional classroom setting, discussions tend to evolve throughout the course, and this online course is no different. In short, there are no right or wrong answers to any discussion questions I will pose. As a student, I simply ask you to engage in academic discussions as you usually would in a traditional classroom and aim for quality over quantity.

With the aforementioned in mind, I expect students to understand and adhere to the following discussion board guidelines:

1. Each discussion board is worth a maximum total of twenty (20) points;
2. Ten (10) points of the each post is concentrated on your content (this concerns both your initial post and any subsequent responses you provide)
 - a. Have you answered the prompt fully?
 - b. Have you provided at least one (1) meaningful response to another student in the course?
 - c. Have you consulted your textbook and/or assigned readings to support your argument?
 - d. Have you consulted outside sources to support your argument?
 - e. Have you provided an argument that carries weight (something considerably more than “I agree” or “I disagree”)

BUSINESS LAW

BUSI 2301.F1

- f. Have you fully supported your argument with evidence or context for your position? (in other words, are you doing more than reiterating the textbook and/or another student's post)
 - g. Does your argument further discussion regarding the topic and warrant continuing discussion from the class?
- 3. Five (5) points of each post is concentrated on timeliness of your post
 - a. Are you posting at least two (2) days before the deadline? (failure to timely post and give students an opportunity to respond will result in a deduction of three (3) points)
- 4. Five (5) points of each post (including responses) concerns the presentation of your post(s)
 - a. Is your post and any subsequent responses grammatically (no spelling errors, correct punctuation, and correct capitalization) correct?
 - b. Does your sentence structure make sense and represent cohesive thoughts?
 - c. Does your writing keep the reader engaged?
 - d. Is your post and any subsequent responses easy to understand?

There are five (5) discussion boards for this course. Each discussion board is due and closes on its respective Unit closing date.

Please understand that I care for each of my students, especially when it comes to their safety and well-being. As a higher education instructor and an attorney licensed to practice by the State Bar of Texas, I have a duty to report any and all issues that warrant a referral for behavior that may involve Title IX or a health/safety issue. If I observe discussions or receive information regarding a potential Title IX and/or health or safety issue, I will not hesitate to make a referral. Please note that I will do my best to notify you in advance of any referral made and will stand by your side as part of your circle of care as long as the college and my obligations as an attorney reasonably allow, but please note, I am not your attorney, and could not be under any circumstances arising out of events or conduct that occurs as a result of you being a student in my course due to the State Bar of Texas' conflict of interest provisions.

Mid-Term Exam – 20%

The mid-term exam comprises material from the following chapters: Chapters 1, 2, 3, 4, 16, 5, 6, and 8. You will have one (1) attempt to complete the mid-term exam. You cannot stop and restart the exam. If you have accommodations on file with MCC, those accommodations will be made accordingly in Brightspace (D2L).

Comprehensive Final Exam – 20%

The final exam in this course is comprehensive and is required to be taken by all students enrolled in this course. You cannot submit your final exam late, therefore, if you do not plan accordingly, you will receive a zero for not completing the exam. You will have one (1) attempt to complete the final exam in two hours (120 minutes) with a two (2) minute grace period. If you have accommodations on file with MCC, those accommodations will be made accordingly in Brightspace (D2L).

Late Work, Attendance, and Make Up Work Policies:

Assignment due dates can be found in this syllabus, on Brightspace under “Syllabus/Schedule,” and associated with each and every assignment and exam on Brightspace. All course work is due on or before the assigned date and time.

Late work will not be accepted unless a student presents evidence of a significant extenuating circumstance. In short, students will not be allowed to make up missed assignments and/or exams unless documentation is presented (documentation of a significant medical issue, family death, etc.). Depending on the nature of the circumstances, students will be allowed up to one additional week to complete the late work. Work submitted after this extended deadline will not be accepted, and no additional deadline extensions will be granted.

If you believe there is some factor or event that will hinder the completion of an exam on time, it is your sole responsibility as a student (and future business professional) to contact the instructor. The instructor will then make a determination as to whether the circumstances are significant enough to warrant a late submission of the exam.

In short, do not procrastinate in this course. This is not a self-paced course where everything is due at the end of the semester. The business world does not function this way and neither does this course.

Student Behavioral Expectations or Conduct Policy:

Attendance

McLennan Community College’s policy on attendance states that all students must be present for seventy-five percent (75%) or more of the course. For online courses, attendance is measured by completion of the course activities. Be advised that I will drop you from this course if you fail to:

- Complete the online orientation and the Syllabus Quiz by the due date; or
- Submit, timely, and completely, any two weeks worth of activities.

In short, I will drop a student when they fail to complete all of the required assignments for two (2) weeks of work.

If you do not complete the Orientation Quiz by the due date, I will drop you from this course with the notation of “never attended.” You may withdraw from this course and request a grade of “W” by the student-initiated drop date, with the caveat that your voluntary withdrawal is not influenced and/or affected by the academic honesty and/or plagiarism policy listed below. It is your responsibility to know the student-initiated drop date. If you fail to adhere to the requirements of this policy, you will receive the grade you earned (for better or worse) at the end of the semester.

In short, please observe the following rules:

- Be an adult;
- Treat your fellow students as you wish to be treated;

Cheating and Plagiarism

As a college student, it is your responsibility to understand and adhere to McLennan Community College's standards regarding cheating and plagiarism. In short, I will not tolerate cheating or plagiarism in any shape or form.

If you turn in work that is believed to be or found to be the product of cheating or plagiarism, you will be given one (1) written warning for the first offense and a grade of zero (0) will be issued for the work in which the offense occurred.

For the second offense regarding cheating and/or plagiarizing, you will be automatically dropped from this course, given a grade of "NC" without the option to drop the course with a grade of "W" and will be reported to MCC's Conduct Officer for further investigation with the potential of academic suspension.

If you are unsure what constitutes plagiarism, I highly recommend you visit <https://www.plagiarism.org/article/what-is-plagiarism>
