S. SWANSON

NOTE: This is a 16-week course.

NOTE: This is an Online course.

Course Description:

Intensive study of and practice in the strategies and techniques for developing research-based expository and persuasive texts. Emphasis on effective and ethical rhetorical inquiry, including primary and secondary research methods; critical reading of verbal, visual, and multimedia texts; systematic evaluation, synthesis, and documentation of information sources; and critical thinking about evidence and conclusions.

Prerequisites and/or Corequisites:

ENGL 1301 or its equivalent with a grade of C or better, or consent of Division Chair.

Course Notes and Instructor Recommendations:

Google Apps/Mail: Please familiarize yourself with this software, since this class will use it for delivering coursework and maintaining an updated course syllabi and calendar. Instructional courses about Google Docs/Drive/Classroom are available through Google and YouTube, but you should also contact Prof. Swanson for questions about use and the Information Systems office (299-8077 or www.mclennan.edu/tech-support/) for help.

Brightspace Grades: While I do use Brightspace's gradebook, it can be behind or calculate the overall grades incorrectly. Therefore, I am always available to answer questions about grades via e-mail. You just have to be sure to e-mail my MCC account from your MCC account to ensure the greatest account security.

Email: I use my MCC and Google email accounts as my primary means of contacting students. Students are responsible for 1) regularly checking their messages in this account (at least once per day), 2) ensuring that their inbox is not full so that they can receive messages, and 3) ensuring that they remember their username and password. Students should only use their MCC email accounts when sending me email.

Google Classroom: We will use Google Classroom for some course assignments and for providing access to course materials. To access, go to classroom.google.com, just make sure that you are logged out of personal Gmail(s) and logged into your MCC student email and use this link:

<https://classroom.google.com/c/NjUwMTU4MzA1ODM0?cjc=exlyhqr>

In the "Stream", you will find course announcements and general questions/discussions. In the "Classwork" section, I will put resources and essay assignments as I add them.

Course Objectives and/or Competencies:

Courses in this category focus on developing ideas and expressing them clearly, considering the effect of the message, fostering understanding, and building the skills needed to communicate persuasively. Courses involve the command of oral, aural, written, and visual literacy skills that enable people to exchange messages appropriate to the subject, occasion, and audience.

- Critical Thinking (CT) -- to include creative thinking, innovation, inquiry, and analysis, evaluation and synthesis of information
- Communications Skill (COM) -- to include effective development, interpretation and expression of ideas through written, oral and visual communication
- Teamwork (TW) -- to include the ability to consider different points of view and to work effectively with others to support a shared purpose or goal
- Personal Responsibility (PR) -- to include the ability to connect choices, actions and consequences to ethical decision-making

Learning Outcomes

1. Demonstrate knowledge of individual and collaborative research processes.
2. Develop ideas and synthesize primary and secondary sources within focused academic arguments, including one or more research-based essays.
3. Analyze, interpret, and evaluate a variety of texts for the ethical and logical uses of evidence.
4. Write in a style that clearly communicates meaning, builds credibility, and inspires belief or action.
5. Apply the conventions of style manuals for specific academic disciplines (e.g., APA, CMS, MLA, etc.).

Course Attendance/Participation Guidelines:

If a student is not in attendance in accordance with the policies/guidelines of the class as outlined in the course syllabus as of the course census date (Jan. 16th), faculty are required to drop students from their class roster prior to certifying the respective class roster. A student's financial aid will be re-evaluated accordingly and the student will only receive funding for those courses attended as of the course census date.

Before the 60% point of the semester, a student who is absent for 25% or more of a face-to-face or blended course or who misses 25% or more of assigned work for an online course will be withdrawn from the course with a grade of W. A student may also request to be withdrawn with a grade of W before the 60% point of the semester. After the 60% point of the semester, the student may request to be withdrawn if the student is passing, or be assigned the final grade earned at the end of the semester after grades have been updated to reflect missing work.

This means:

- If a student does not attend class before Jan. 16th (census date), they will be dropped from the class. This can negatively impact the student's ability to receive financial aid in the future.
- If a student chooses to drop the class before Jan. 16th (census date), they may do so, and the course will not appear on their transcript at all. Before making this choice, the student should speak with me to address their concerns.
 - If I can provide the resources, advice, and/or encouragement needed for the student to successfully complete the class, I will be happy to do so.
 - If after speaking with me, the student still wishes to drop the course, they should first check with their advisor and with the Office of Financial Aid to ensure they understand how dropping a class might affect their timeline to graduation and their ability to receive financial aid/scholarships in the future.
- If a student chooses to withdraw from the class between Jan. 16th (census date) and Mar. 21st (the 60% point in the semester), they may do so, and the grade on their transcript will be a W.
 - Again, the student should consult with me, their advisor, and the Financial Aid Office to ensure they are making a fully informed decision.
- Please note: Students are limited to 6 withdrawals throughout their undergraduate education at all Texas public colleges and universities (combined total).
- If a student is absent from 8 class meetings before Mar. 21st (the 60% point in the semester), the instructor may withdraw them from the class, and the grade on their transcript will be a W.
- If a student reaches 8 absences after Mar. 21st (the 60% point in the semester), they may receive an F for the course.
- For F2F/Hybrid courses- Attendance will be taken at the start of class. If a student arrives late, it is their responsibility to speak with me after class to ensure they are marked "present".
- For Online/Hybrid courses- Attendance relies on students completing work. Just logging into Brightspace or Classroom does not count as "attendance".

Course Outline or Schedule:

Course Grading Information:

Course Grading Scale

- A = 895-1000 pts.
B = 795-894 pts.
C = 695-794 pts.
D = 595-694 pts.
F = 594 and fewer pts.

Planned Assignments/Graded Content:

1. Summary Essay (First Full: 25 + Revised: 25 + Final: 50=100 pts.): The first essay project consists of a shorter (600 word min.) essay that focuses on the student's ability to summarize a reading's claim and reasons while also giving insight into the importance and meaning of the essay within its context.
2. Critique Essay (FF: 25 + RD: 25 + FD: 100=150 pts.): The second essay project (800 word min.) will focus on students demonstrating their abilities to dissect and evaluate the argument of a chosen reading in terms of its effectiveness as an argument.
3. Research Essay (FF & AB: 50 + RD: 50 + FD: 150=250 pts.): The third essay will provide an opportunity for the student to show their mastery of developing a research project from beginning to end (1500 word min.).
4. Timed Essays (50+100 pts.): We will have a mid-term and final consisting of in-class, timed essays.
5. Weekly Reflections (on Google Classroom) (150 pts.): Every week, I will post a discussion post with an out-of-class writing assignment. These will encourage students to think and reflect more deeply as well as to make connections between readings, class discussions, and essay projects that we're working on. Instructions for each will be contained in the post, but in general, posts should be made in the "comments" for the discussion post, meet minimum expectations for college-level writing, and exceed a minimum of 200 words (unless otherwise noted).
6. Quizzes (100 pts.): We will have quizzes in almost every unit over the readings or work due for the class period. Only the top 10 quizzes will count towards the final grade.

Please note that quizzes are ONLY a small part of the overall grade. They do provide an important way to assess your week-to-week understanding and growth, but they are NOT a major priority in the course.

7. Student/Instructor Conference (50 pts.): Students must make and keep one out-of-class appointment with Professor Swanson before the deadline on the schedule. We can conference via Google Meet/chat/email. Please email me ahead of time to set up a time and method of conference that works for you.
8. Participation (50 pts.): Students will receive a grade reflecting how well they demonstrate their out-of-class preparedness and willingness to engage, constructively, to class discussions and projects.

Quizzes:

Please note that quizzes are ONLY a small part of the overall grade. They do provide an important way to assess your week-to-week understanding and growth, but they are NOT a major priority in the course.

- Each unit, we will have a set of quizzes that make up that Unit's "Quiz" grade. Quizzes work to get our brains started on how prepared we are for beginning the material of a section of the course. They are NOT the end or completion of learning.
- Each quiz section will state what it covers before beginning. So, make sure that you've read, taken notes, and reviewed before beginning.
- While students ARE allowed to use books, notes, Google, etc during their quiz time, the time limits and variety of questions mean that students need to prepare for the quiz or they will not be as successful as they can be.
- The time limits for the quizzes are indicated in the instructions and the timer while taking the quiz, but if students go just 1-2 minutes over, please complete and submit. I generally allow a bit of grace for students to get used to quizzes, especially in the first few units.
- Only the top 10 units' quizzes will count towards the final grade, and each quiz usually has more points available to earn the base 10 pts/unit. So, I will add up all of sections for a unit and input that as your grade. The top 10 units' quizzes get counted towards the overall final grade. So, between extra points available (built-in extra-credit questions) and dropping the lowest few quizzes, students do NOT need to ace all of their quizzes to do well in the class.
- However, students who struggle consistently should probably reach out and email/chat with me about their reading, notes, and study habits so that we can figure out what's going on.
- ALL assignments must show clear effort of the student's own thinking and work.
 - Work that appears to rely on Google or other artificial tools will receive a failing grade and can result in additional requirements and/or an automatic zero on the assignment or in the course. (See sections on Academic Integrity below)

- o Students whose work shows a lack of individual critical thinking or specificity and/or seemingly relies on Google/AI/other outside resources will not be eligible for any extra credit for the course.

Turning In Your Work Online:

Since it is becoming increasingly important for workers to manage electronic information, students must follow the following guidelines when submitting electronically or risk a loss of 10% off of the top of the assignment's worth.

- The document that you submit must include a full version history of the work on that assignment. Pasting of large chunks of text and/or working only from top to bottom (etc.) can result in inquiries regarding your process and critical thinking, writing, and reading and questions regarding the academic quality and integrity of the work.
- Students should generally create their assignments in Google Docs and attach them to the appropriate assignment immediately. (Or, the option in Classroom exists to create the document in the assignment and have it saved automatically in the Classroom assignment. I recommend strongly that students use it.)
 - o In the event that Google Docs is down for a prolonged period, you should e-mail your work as an attachment to me before the required time and date to avoid losing full credit.
- Assignments must be titled/saved so that their file name follows the general format: Last name first name filename.
 - o So, I would title the file for this syllabus: Swanson Stephen Syllabus Fall 2020.
 - o Do not use special characters such as “#” or “/” or “$” in the title, as they can cause problems in storage and recovery.
- Assignments must be submitted as Google Docs. If you need help converting your document to a Google Doc, please contact me significantly before an assignment is due.

NOTE: It can be hard to get used to a new electronic program. Please do not wait until the last minute to do things. Also, do not hesitate to ask for help (from me, IT (299-8077), and/or the Student Support Center/Writing Lab).

Grading Guidelines for All Assignments:

- All graded work must be typed and submitted electronically (in the case of essays), double-spaced, in standard font and in 12-pt size, and follow all conventions of an MLA paper. There will be a sample paper written in standard MLA form available in “Samples” on Google Classroom.
- Assignments must ALWAYS meet the minimum length & source requirements and address the prompt/assignment (including First Full and Revised Drafts, see more below).

Late/Make Up Work Policies:

- This class has built-in makeup or revision assignments. Therefore, in general, no late work will be accepted. “Late,” for this course is defined as after the beginning of the class period that the assignment is listed as due.
- However, exceptions will be made to students who contact me beforehand and receive a written/typed reply detailing the accommodations or students who meet the unforeseeable, excused absences as per MCC’s attendance policy.
- Please, if you even THINK you might need an extension of a day or two, reach out BEFORE the due date, and I can almost always work with you.

Revised/First Full Draft Grading

- Revised and First Full drafts must always meet the minimum expectations for the assignment in terms of formatting, topic, length, and source requirements.
- Think of Revised drafts as close to final drafts. They should represent a significant mid-point in the writing process, not the beginning.
- Revised drafts that fail to meet minimum requirements in terms of topic, length, or source requirements can be immediately reduced by 5% for each requirement missed.
 - Those that fail to meet minimum length requirements by more than 25% will immediately receive an additional 20% reduction. (ie. A 3 page draft for a 4 page assignment will only be able to earn a maximum of 75% of the available points.)

Final Draft Grading

- When submitting final drafts, students must always include the files of their peer reviewed Revised draft along with the final draft itself. Missing these will result in a 10% deduction per missing element.
- Final drafts that do not meet MLA formatting or citation guidelines in any way will lose an immediate 10% of the available points and, depending on the severity of the citation errors, could be turned over for consideration for academic dishonesty.
- Final draft submissions that clearly do not meet the assignment in respect of length, topic, or source requirement can immediately be reduced by 10% of the available points.
 - Those that fail to meet the minimum length required by more than 25% will see an additional deduction of 40% off of the possible grade. (ie. A 300 word draft for a 400 word assignment will only be able to earn a maximum of 50% of the available points.)
- In all cases, you do have the right and responsibility to ask for clarification about why and how the assignment does not meet the basic, minimum standards for the assignment.
 - Final drafts of Essays 1-2 that lose 30% or more of their total score will be immediately returned with a zero, pending revision. Students will have to meet with me, as per revision requirements, and revise their paper by the assigned revision time. Students who do not revise will earn an automatic zero.

Required Revisions for Essays 1 and/or 2

Final drafts of Essays 1-2 that lose 30% or more of their total score will be immediately returned with a zero, pending revision. Students will have to meet with me, as per revision requirements, and revise their paper by the assigned revision time. Students who do not revise will earn an automatic zero.

Revisions:

Students have the opportunity to rewrite the Final Drafts for Essays 1 and 2

To earn a higher grade on a rewrite, you must:

1. Make an appointment and meet with me before completing a rewrite,
2. Have originally submitted a draft on time,
3. Revise and/or reorganize a significant portion of the essay,
4. Resubmit the revision on time, no later than two weeks from the day returned, and
5. Points lost for being late cannot be made up for any reason, and points for peer reviews will have a limited ability to earn those points depending on the situation and time restraints.

Writing Grading Rubric:

The rubric, below, is what I use to guide my grading of all written assignments. It describes my standards for grading. This is a prose-style description of the qualities required for each grade level. We will be discussing the specific aspects and their worth as the semester progresses, but you should become familiar with what each grade represents.

If you have questions about what I mean or am looking for, then please schedule an appointment early in the semester to talk to me. Here is my rubric:

- An A paper (90-100%) is excellent in nearly all respects. It shows originality of thought that goes well beyond material presented in class. It is well argued and well organized with a clear, specific, and ambitious thesis. It is well developed with content that is specific, interesting, appropriate, and convincing. It has logical and artful transitions and is marked by stylistic finesse and varied sentence structures. It demonstrates command of mature diction and has few, if any, mechanical, grammatical, spelling, or diction errors.
- A B paper (80-89%) is excellent in several respects but may have a less sophisticated thesis, a less distinguished style, some minor lapses in organization and development, some ineffective sentence structures, and some minor mechanical, grammatical, spelling, or diction problems.
- A C paper (70-79%) is generally competent, but compared to a B paper, it may have a weaker thesis and less effective style and development. It may contain some lapses in organization, poor or awkward transitions, less varied sentence structures that tend toward choppy or monotony, significant problems with mechanics, grammar, spelling, and diction.

- A D paper (60-69%) is below average and may present a thesis that is too vague or too obvious to be developed effectively. It generally exhibits problems with organization, support, transitions, sentence structures, mechanics, grammar, spelling, and diction that impede understanding.
- An F paper (59% and below) is far below average and may have no clear thesis or central topic. It may display a lack of organization, support, and development. It may contain major and repeated problems with mechanics, grammar, spelling, and diction and may fail to fulfill the assignment or may be unacceptably brief. It may include language, content, and/or organization that shows a lack of individual, critical thinking and/or reliance on artificial tools to produce the work or elements of that work.

NOTE: Notice how high the standards for “A”, “B”, and even “C” papers are. This might be significantly different from your experience in other classes or in high school.

Participation Grading/Expectations:

Participation does count for 5% of your final grade. While it's not a TON, you should make sure that you make active and frequent engagement a part of your coursework.

I primarily assess participation grades based on a combination of...

- Attendance/timeliness of turning in work.
- Quality and frequency of demonstrating preparation BEFORE class.
- Quality and frequency of questions (whether in class, reflections, conferences, etc).
- Contributions to class/course as a whole by engaging with fellow students, instructor, and core ideas and assignments.
- Time management, professionalism, collegiality, and following of directions overall.

Academic Integrity

(<https://www.mclennan.edu/Accommodations-Title-IX/academic-integrity/index.html>)

The link above will provide you with information about academic integrity, dishonesty, and cheating.

Use of Artificial Intelligence:

Many students know that there now exist programs that use algorithms to get information from the internet and compose answers to quizzes, blogs, or even whole essays for their work.

I want to let you know that I've been using these tools myself for quite a while, and they have many, important uses. I've worked for about ten years with Google on improving their AI-supported tools for instructors and other educational needs.

However, I want to WARN you that the use of artificial intelligence to generate content that you turn in as your own (for ANY assignments) is considered an act of academic dishonesty and can be punished pretty severely.

For OUR class, I view AI as an important tool (like spellcheck and word processors and Google/Wikipedia/etc), that my students need to learn to use effectively but also not rely on to do the work FOR them.

I have ZERO problems with students using AI to help them get started or to ease their workload in some ways, but turning in work that shows elements of not being the work of the student will result..

- First, a warning and invitation to have a conversation about what I'm seeing and what to do to ensure full growth and participation
- Second, the assignment will receive a point reduction (possibly to a zero),
- Third, I will issue a report to student affairs and a zero for the assignment and possibly for the course as a whole.

(Depending on the severity of the infraction and the scope of the assignment, these steps can be modified)

MORE IMPORTANTLY, AI cannot do an effective job of actually completing your work. I deliberately write questions, reflections, and prompts that require actual humans to think, read, and write critically in ways that AI cannot (yet).

If you would like to use AI as a part of your process, please let me know, and I'm happy to work with you individually and share some of the materials and processes that I'm developing and including in my upcoming classes as I rewrite and re-record the materials for the coming school year. I'd be thrilled to show you more about what AI can and cannot help you with.

Again, I don't want to "ban" or "hunt down" AI content. I want to help you learn and practice the skills that will prove useful in future classes and careers. I want to help you become flexible and strong in your abilities.

Let me know how I can help and be VERY careful how much you rely on these tools for any of your classes.

Other Forms of Academic Dishonesty:

the use of someone else's work without crediting or properly adapting materials from that work. If you use quotes, ideas, opinions, arguments, examples, summaries, paraphrases, statistics, outlines, graphics, etc., you must cite your sources. Info not cited is considered plagiarized unless it is all common knowledge or your own observations or ideas. Plagiarism is easy to detect and almost as easy to prove. Please cite sources.

MULTIPLE SUBMISSION OF PAPERS FOR COURSES:

Normally, a paper done for one class may not be submitted in another class. However, if work in two different classes is similar but differs in significant ways, it may be acceptable. To be safe, you should get written approval first (by showing me the work done for the other class), before revising your work for this class.

COLLUSION:

getting someone else to do your work. You should get help outside of class, and I encourage everyone to make at least one visit to the Writing Center to see what type of tutoring assistance is offered. After all, the goal in this course is that you learn to write better. But if you let others actually do your work, I will probably notice and you may fail the course. Note: Large discrepancies in quality between writing assignments may result in the requirement of additional timed or proctored work,
