FRESHMAN COMPOSITION II

ENGL_1302_M1

Course Description:

ENGL 1302 focuses on the intensive study of and practice in the strategies and techniques for developing research-based expository and persuasive texts; Emphasis is on the following:

- effective and ethical rhetorical inquiry, including primary and secondary research methods;
- critical reading of verbal, visual and multimedia texts;
- systematic evaluation, synthesis, and documentation of information sources;
- and critical thinking about evidence and conclusions.

Note: ENGL 1302 is a prerequisite for all 2000-level literature courses.

Prerequisites and/or Corequisites: Prerequisite: ENGL 1301 or its equivalent with a grade of C or better or consent of division chair. Semester Hours 3 (3 lec).

Course Notes and Instructor Recommendations:

An Internet course requires a great deal of personal discipline and work. Students should look at the course website frequently. During short semesters, students should plan to study for a major part of every day. During long semesters, students should expect to study at least 9 to 12 hours per week. Reading is the primary means by which the Internet course works. Internet students must read assignment instructions carefully, must read lectures and assigned book chapters, and must read independently in order to succeed. Additionally, students must be capable of presenting everything in writing, since writing is the primary communication mode in this course. Students should have a solid, satisfactory grade in all course prerequisites.

FRESHMAN COMPOSITION II

ENGL_1302_M1

Access to an academic library (such as the MCC Library) is required. As an MCC student, students will have online access to the MCC library databases. Go to the MCC Homepage and click "Library." This course does not require visits to the campus. All work will be done on the student's choice of computers.

For campus resources available to students, please visit the "Students" area of the MCC Homepage, at www.mclennan.edu/students.

MCC Bookstore Website: <http://www.mclennan.edu/bookstore/>

Methods of Teaching and Learning:

All English 1302 instructors will assign a research project with shared parameters that will be graded by a common rubric. The project will include both a written product and a presentation. To meet core objectives, students will accurately evaluate, compare, and integrate at least 5 primary and/or secondary sources; cite sources correctly and appropriately using MLA documentation style; and work together to improve the product through shared data collection, peer review, and self and team member analysis.

Library Use Requirements: Since this course requires the writing and researching of research papers, students will need to know how to use the library. Students may use any library—college libraries, city libraries, online libraries, etc. Many of the assignments require that students know where a library is and know how to navigate it. If students do not feel comfortable using the library, they should contact one of the MCC reference librarians for an orientation to the MCC library.

Learning the Material: There are two standard methods for learning the course material. First, students should read the assigned chapters in the texts. Students will find it very helpful to have a learning journal as they read. In the learning journal, they should summarize book chapters, make notes of the main points of each lesson, and summarize each lecture, especially the material in the margins of the unit assignment documents. Summarizing the material helps students put it in a form they can more easily remember it. This information will help them do well on the tests and on the essays.

Doing Well on Tests and Essays: Only 4 tests are required for the entire semester. To do well on these tests (which are always open book), students should have read and outlined chapters, and they should thoroughly know the required material beforehand. They should also have marked significant passages or taken notes. Even open book tests can be difficult if students do not have the material marked up so they can find information easily. The tests themselves will help to prepare students for writing. An Internet course requires a high level of motivation and independence. Depending upon the individual situation and characteristics, an Internet course can be an excellent way to learn. If students follow the guidelines given in this syllabus, students have a good chance of succeeding in this Internet class. All course information is on the website. Students are responsible for consulting the website daily to read announcements and emails and to note any changes to course structure, assignments, etc.

FRESHMAN COMPOSITION II

Units:

This course is organized into six units. Each unit will have a specific due date. These dates are deadline dates, not turn-in-dates, meaning work should be completed and turned in by the date specified. If the date falls on a weekend and you don't want to work on weekends or on holidays, you should work ahead to get everything in before the weekend or holiday. Students will find "due by" information in each Unit Folder. Students are responsible for carefully reading everything, following the instructions, submitting the assignments according to those instructions, and for reading announcements daily. Any changes will be posted in the announcements. Students will read and have practice doing assignments before the actual assignment is due. Students will also write some assignments in tiny chunks, as this method also helps students recall information.

Essays and Assignments:

ALL ASSIGNMENTS SHOULD BE IN WORD. DO NOT SEND A GOOGLE.DOC file, or a PDF or anything other than Word. If I can't open a file, you will receive a zero. Please use Word. Five major research-based essays are required in this course. Each essay is fully explained in the unit lecture assignments document. Each essay must be written within the specified time period. Topic-related information will be discussed, including details on the assignment or essay. The topics for essays 3, 4, and 5 will be posted and the essays will be written over a period of time. I will provide much more information on the essays in the assignment instructions.

Additionally, each essay will require a research component. The essays can be considered miniature research papers, as finding and reading research will be required for each one. The use of MLA style is required and the USE OF SOURCES FROM THE LIBRARY WILL BE REQUIRED, USUALLY EBSCO HOST. You will also complete additional research projects. Each major essay will be turned in through the Assignment link. Failure to turn in the essay through the link will result in a grade of zero. ESSAYS or any other assignments SHOULD NOT BE SENT TO MY MCC EMAIL UNLESS DIRECTIONS TELL YOU TO DO SO. ASSIGNMENTS SENT TO MY EMAIL WILL NOT BE GRADED. ALL ASSIGNMENTS SHOULD BE IN WORD.

Unit tests and a final are required. These tests will be taken on the students' choice of computer. The Works Cited assignments count as daily grades. The Brightspace software automatically grades the unit tests. It is very important to gather required test information, if any, before starting a test. It is also very important to use a computer that will not likely lose its Internet connection. Otherwise, this loss may result in receiving a zero for the test. Some tests will not appear available until certain dates. Do not open a test until you are ready to take it.

Several Discussion Board (DB) postings will be required during the semester. These postings are graded on the basis of quality and quantity. In terms of quality, students are graded for originality, accuracy, and clear thinking. Students are also given credit for writing follow-up posts to other students' DB postings. The DB grade is given at the end of the semester. The specific DB assignments are found in the unit lecture assignments. Two extra credit assignments are worth 2 points each and will be added to students' final class average. Students will complete 2 required critiques. Extra critiques will count as .5 extra credit towards students' final class average. Students may complete up to 6 extra critiques, including their own.

Course grades will be in the Grade Center. To obtain your final grade for the course, check your WebAdvisor. Note: The average you will see in the Weighted Total of the Grade Center will NOT be correct until all of the assignment grades are posted, and BS has done the average. I do not use the point system so I will not have an average until the last grade has been calculated THROUGH the Brightspace Grade Center.

Late Work, Attendance, and Make Up Work Policies:

All assignments are given a “due by” date in the Unit Folder. Please don’t ask me to take late work.

Once the link is disabled, it will not be reopened. If you miss a deadline for the test, essay, or an assignment, the penalty will be a zero for whatever is missed. If you miss a deadline, check to see if the assignment is still available. If it is, complete it. Works Cited assignments cannot be turned in late for any reason at all because the answer keys post immediately after the due date expires. In some cases, these misses will mean being withdrawn from the course. Because this is an Internet class, students will not be given make-up work for missed assignments. In other words, late work is unacceptable because of the time and the freedom allowed in an Internet course. Essays cannot be made up. Unit 5 Discussion Board is a collaborative assignment that MUST BE done on time. It will do no good to ask me for an extension because students will be completing the work together.

Student Behavioral Expectations or Conduct Policy:

Academic maturity is a must in this course. Students are expected to maintain classroom decorum to include respecting other students and the instructor, exercising prompt and regular attendance, communicating in a polite and respectful manner, and maintaining an attitude that seeks to take full advantage of the education opportunity. Discriminatory comments, profanity, and any type of threatening/disruptive communication will be grounds for instructor-initiated withdrawal of students and/or referral to McLennan Community College’s discipline officer. Email responses, discussion board responses, etc. should be courteous at all times. Discussion boards are considered classroom discussions. If certain behavior would not be acceptable in a classroom, it is not acceptable on a discussion board. I ask that all students treat everyone in the class the way they wish to be treated, behaving like a mature ADULT WHO CHOSE TO TAKE THIS CLASS. I will be respectful to everyone at all times, and I ask for the same from each person in this class. Please be respectful of each other and of the fact that we all have feelings. Having a bad day and stressful experiences are not excuses for anyone to write nasty E-mails or discussion board responses.

Communication Students should use MCC email (lcrawford@mclennan.edu) for communication. You may also call me at 254-299-8940. This message will also go to my email. While it is appropriate to wait up to 48 hours for a response to a message, you will usually receive a response the same day you send your email. After 48 hours, if no response is received, you should resend the message to make sure I received it.

(<https://www.mclennan.edu/highlander-guide/policies.html>)

Click on the link above for the college policies on attendance and absences.

Instructor's Guidelines on Attendance/Absence Policy: Regular and punctual attendance is expected of all students, and I will maintain a complete record of attendance for the entire length of each course, including online and hybrid courses. Students will be counted absent from class meetings missed, beginning with the first official day of classes. Students, whether present or absent, are responsible for all material presented or assigned for a course and will be held accountable for such materials in the determination of course grades. MCC requires that instructors of Internet classes devise a method for checking attendance and that they drop students who fail to attend more than 25% of the course. For an online course, attendance will be measured by assignments. If students turn in all the assignments by the due date, they will be marked present for the week prior. If they do not, they will be marked absent. If students turn in the work after the due dates, the absence will not be removed. Students, whether present or absent, whether face to face or online, are responsible for all material presented or assigned for a course and will be held accountable for such materials in the determination of course grades and withdrawals. If students fail to sign on in an online class for two weeks, they may be dropped.

After the last day for student initiated withdrawals, students will not be withdrawn, but will, instead, receive the grade that they have in the course. I ask students to inform me if they plan to drop the course. Maybe we can find a way to make the course work! If we can't, I can still help by doing the paperwork involved. Please click on the link above for the complete policy.

Please keep in mind that students may not drop more than six courses (18 hours) during their ENTIRE college experience in Texas. That means a student may only drop six classes in Texas institutions, regardless of the college he/she attends. For example, if a student dropped six classes at University of Texas last year, that student is not eligible to drop any more classes at MCC or anywhere else in the state of Texas.
