Course Objectives and/or Competencies:

Upon completion of this course, the student will be able to

- recall the limit definition of derivative and use it to derive simple functions.
- recall and use the polynomial, product, quotient, chain, exponential, logarithmic, and implicit rules/techniques for calculating derivatives.
- use derivatives to write equations of tangent lines, calculate rates of change, optimize functions, evaluate marginal functions, and to analyze functions and their graphs for increase/decrease, relative and absolute extrema, concavity, and inflection.
- solve a variety of business and economics applications involving optimization, extrema, and concavity, with and without a graphing calculator.
- calculate antiderivatives, definite integrals, and improper integrals.
- apply antiderivatives to solve elementary differential equations.
- apply definite integrals to calculate areas under and between curves, volumes of solids of revolution, and average value of functions, using a graphing calculator when appropriate.

- calculate first- and second-order partial derivatives of functions in several variables.

Course Attendance/Participation Guidelines:

If a student is not in attendance in accordance with the policies/guidelines of the class as outlined in the course syllabus as of the course census date, faculty are required to drop students from their class roster prior to certifying the respective class roster. A student's financial aid will be re-evaluated accordingly and the student will only receive funding for those courses attended as of the course census date.

Before the 60% point of the semester, a student who is absent for 25% or more of a face-to-face or blended course or who misses 25% or more of assigned work for an online course will be withdrawn from the course with a grade of W. A student may also request to be withdrawn with a grade of W before the 60% point of the semester. After the 60% point of the semester, the student may request to be withdrawn if the student is passing, or be assigned the final grade earned at the end of the semester after grades have been updated to reflect missing work.

Course Grading Information:

1. Homework: There is a homework assignment for each section that is covered during the semester. Since the test questions will be similar to the homework problems they will be a good source of practice for the tests. Homework due dates will be posted online. You can work on homework assignments as many times as you want to improve your grade before the due date. Once the due date passes, your score is frozen. You can still access problems to practice, but you can't improve your score. Your homework average will count as 30% of your total average.
3. Tests: Five/Six tests plus a comprehensive Final. There are no makeup tests or retests. Tests will count as 50% of the final average.

Before each test is available (online or face to face), all homework assignments must be completed with at least a 70% score for that unit. A score of 0 will be assigned to that test if the student has not met this prerequisite for testing by the indicated due date.

4. Final Exam: A cumulative final exam is required and cannot be dropped. It will count 20% of the final average.
5. Grading in this course will be based on homework, unit/chapter tests, and a comprehensive final exam according to the following percentages.

You can check your grades using the "Gradebook" button on the left side of the MathLab component. The standard grading scale applies:

90 – 100 = A 80 – 89 = B 70 – 79 = C 60 – 69 = D 59 and below = F

Late Work, Attendance, and Make Up Work Policies:

Due dates are set for all homework and test dates are scheduled. If students do not make the deadlines, those grades become zero. If a test is missed, the grade is zero. Instructor has the right to make adjustments to this policy under special circumstances.

Student Behavioral Expectations

Students are expected to maintain classroom decorum, that includes respect for other students and the instructor, prompt and regular attendance, and an attitude that seeks to take full advantage of the education opportunity.
